PRESENTATION & PUBLIC SPEAKING WORKSHOP

PRESENTATION & PUBLIC SPEAKING SKILLS

A great presenter has two unique qualities, appropriate skills and personal confidence. Moreover, speaking under pressure addresses the worst fears about being on the spot. This two-day workshop presents techniques to organize ideas in pressure situations or when no advance preparation time is available. The core of this workshop is in thinking strategies which guide our ability to analyze, organize, and present ideas. At the end of the program, participants will be able to quickly organize and structure a presentation, deliver a convincing message without speaker's notes, and provide sound and convincing answers to the most difficult questions. In this two-day workshop, you will master the skills that will make you a better speaker and presenter.
